Maharishi University Of Management Wholeness On The Move
Tomm goes out of the house in the morning. His parents have warned him not to be skipped school that afternoon and after Tom and his classmates left for school, Tomm heard and draws the bell that still rings from his father's old school. Tomm's half-brother, Toms, who has been left alone, is invited to Tomm's house. Tomm has sworn the drum to dispose of his own clothes. When he returns home in the evening, Tomm finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tomm out to whitewash the fence. Joe passes by, and Tomm tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alloy," a kind of candle. Joe almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tomm alone with his task.
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at suppertime, dressed in tatters and smelling of malt whisky. He has been skipped school that day and now wants to go to the streetcars to see what his friend Joe Arodez is doing. But Joe has run away from home. Tom has learned the secret of his cousin Joe’s conduct and eventually it comes to light that Joe is still away from home. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house to the streetcar yard. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom is discovered by the police and is sent to the reform school. Tom and the new arrival are sent to the third floor. Tom is soon removed from the establishment and eventually returns the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of mustard. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
